'The Relational Revolution in Psychoanalysis and Psychotherapy'

Speaker: Dr Steven Kuchuck

Synopsis:

The relational revolution led to what is arguably the most radical revision of our understanding of how to effect healing and change in the mind since Freud's visionary work more than a century ago. In this presentation, I will introduce details around the birth of this still ground-breaking theoretical shift, look at reasons why the theory is often misunderstood and confused with other psychoanalytic schools, and discuss some of the more central Relational concepts such as; the impact of the therapist's subjectivity on the patient, self-disclosure, silent-disclosure, multiplicity, and relational perspectives on race, gender and sexuality. Clinical material will be integrated throughout the presentation.

You can watch a short film introducing Steven's book on YouTube here.

About the speaker:

Dr Steven Kuchuck, DSW, is a psychoanalyst, psychotherapist and clinical consultant in private practice in New York City. He is on the faculty of the New York University Postdoctoral Program in Psychotherapy and Psychoanalysis and is a faculty member, supervisor and Board member at the National Institute for the Psychotherapies.
